

2008

...nothing is real (CARA Winner 2008 and RARB Pick of '08)

1. Six voices
2. Yes we can can
3. Everything ain't everything but nothing is real
4. Waterfalls
5. When love comes to town
6. Funkjoe
7. Tired with all these – sonnet LXVI by Shakespeare
8. Boogie down / Jungle Boogie
9. Humanizoo

"The Stouxingers have outdone themselves with the new record, which rocks out and sounds great. (...) Nothing Is Real offers a mix of R&B covers, original tunes and improv jams. (...) This is a great album, European a cappella at its accessible best." (Rebecca Christie, RARB Reviewer)

"The German vocal jazz-pop-soul-folk group Stouxingers makes some of the most mesmerizing and compelling music on the planet. Their sound and approach to making a cappella music is just short of brilliant. It's earthy and organic and groovy and delicious. In fact, I'm going to call them liars right here. Some "thing" is real ... and it's called the Stouxingers. And it's real good. (...) They should teach a masterclass on what it means to truly sing in the pocket." (Thomas King, RARB Reviewer)

"With tight jazz, groovy funk, and smooth R&B, each infused with serious vocal panache, the Stouxingers' ...Nothing is Real will knock you flat. (...) They approach all their material with innovative avidity, and they execute with sound musical justification. Eimann's arrangements and originals are subtle and sophisticated, and each song on the album transmits the effortless perfection that can only be gained through copious shared performance experience. (...) The Stouxingers are absolutely fearless, and the innovation that fearlessness affords and the confidence it provides make for an ear-opening and intensely enjoyable listen." (Joseph Bates, RARB Reviewer)

Further details at www.rarb.org (<http://www.rarb.org/reviews/832.html>)